

WE NOMINATE

Chester Ralph Stroup, one of New Jersey's highly perceptive educators, whose second annual report as Superintendent of the Borough Schools has underscored the Princeton Area's abiding concern for quality education on all levels. In outlining the aspirations and achievements of an excellent school system, which in the months ahead will be pondering plans for a new educational center as well as exploring the possibilities of consolidation with the ably administered Township Schools, the 46-year old Stroup—now entering his 17th year as a Princetonian—documents an interest in educational affairs that may well be Princeton's most distinctive hallmark.

In a real sense the Borough's Schools have "come of age," and have moved steadily forward, since Stroup was called here in 1916 as Principal of the Nassau Street School. While no single individual can ever be given credit for the evolution of front-rank institutions, Stroup in each successive stage of the development of three Borough schools (i.e., Nassau, Witherspoon and the basically regional High School) has played a major role. Starting with the racial integration of the elementary schools shortly after World War II, and continuing through the curricular innovations of 1961-62, his influence has been readily discernible.

Parents, whose children's primary and secondary school experiences have coincided with Stroup's progression to the superintendency clearly recall his contributions in his early years in the Nassau Street School, particularly his efforts to give youngsters "practical lessons in democracy." By the early 1950's, when he added the responsibilities of Assistant Borough Superintendent to his duties as School Principal, he had proved the effectiveness of a "student council," including representatives of the first five grades. It was his contention that "the best possible curriculum, the most effective training aids are vitally important; so are the standards of a code of conduct evolved in a democratic atmosphere."

Born in the hard-coal town of Kulpmont, Pa., the same day his father was elected mayor of Kulpmont, Stroup began pointing for a teaching career even before he completed his high school studies. At West Chester State Teachers College (Pennsylvania), where he crammed five years of work into four, he concentrated in the natural and social sciences and demonstrated his characteristic energy by also carrying off high honors in dramatics and track. Money, he recalls, was "mighty tight" during the mid-1930's, but he succeeded in making ends meet by playing the so-called Philadelphia circuit as a swing-band instrumentalist.

Nearly a decade in Georgetown, Del., that straddles the Delaware-Chesapeake Ship Canal on the edge of Maryland's Eastern Shore, gave Stroup his first insights into the "challenges and satisfactions of teaching." He handled classroom and administrative assignments throughout a 12-grade system and was serving as a school head at the time he accepted Princeton's bid. From the beginning, Stroup has sought to strengthen relationships between teacher and pupil, between school and family, between family and community, and over the years has unceasingly experimented with educational methods and procedures dedicated to inculcating a sense of individual responsibility as well as far-ranging understanding of the subjects taught.

For his excellent portrayal of a school system that is reassuringly "alive"; for his capacities for endowing in others (student, teacher and parent alike), enthusiasm for solid work and accomplishment; for accepting the burdens of leadership in a period of crucial importance to Princeton and its schools; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as authority on regional planning urged Princeton residents to decide what kind of town and region they want, and then fight for it.

MORE OPEN SPACE: The State now has in hand the Township's application for "Green Acres" funds to buy the black patch of land—28.5 acres—shown above. Tentative plans call for nine tennis courts, an ice-hockey rink, a playground and "passive recreation" on the partly-wooded site. Can Princeton and Mercer County long remain "open"? For various opinions, see "This Is Princeton."

This November, Mercer County voters will be asked to approve County Park Commission which would be given the power to acquire park land, develop and operate it. The creation of a park commission and development of a park system will be one of the most important events in the history of Mercer County.

Sees Richard J. Collier, Freeholder "It will have an immediate and long-range impact on the health and welfare of County residents and will be a major factor in preserving and enhancing all property values."

The County goal is an open park system of 15,000 acres—10 per cent of Mercer's 150,000 acres. The 15,000 would include municipal, county and state park system.

Specifically, Mercer hopes to acquire these sites, once the County Park Commission has been approved by the voters and its members appointed. (There is no specific priority).

● Bald Pate Mountain on the Delaware near the county workhouse. In Hopewell Township. Its 1,600 acres would be kept in their natural state, and used only for camping, picnicking, hiking and possibly hunting.

● Jacob's Creek Watershed, Hopewell Township. About 1,000 acres in this scenic area just off the Delaware would serve conservation as well as recreation needs.

● Stony Brook, A stream-valley park along Stony Brook has been on the county books for many years, and Freeholders foresee it as a part-county, part-municipal recreation area dedicated primarily to soil conservation.

● Herrington Wood. As an asset not only to Princeton, but to the whole county, the Freeholders would like to acquire an additional adjoining 80 acres to the Herrington.

Person To Person

A friend reminded us of one of Sam Levison's bright sayings, and we think you might like this one: "When Cary S. Kammer, Jr. you need a helping hand, you'll find one at the end of your arm." Of course, this is a clever way of expressing the old "help-yourself" philosophy, and we're all in favor of that. It's good to know that there are many things we can do for ourselves, and many ways in which we can help ourselves reach whatever goal we have set. But we think it's also important to know when to call in the services of those who are experts in their field. We humbly submit that many years of experience enable us to serve you well, and our creed is to serve you the way we would want to be served. Won't you come in soon? Kammer Buick-Pontiac Co., Route 206, opposite Princeton Airport, WA 1-2222.

government may pay 20 percent, and the Township 30 percent.

Although Borough and Township have agreed to make joint applications for "Green Acres" money, the Township is applying alone in this case because acquisition of the Harrop land will make a "package" with the present Community Gardens acreage.

And as they considered the acquisition of "Open Space" and approval of a County Park Commission in November, municipal officials listened last Thursday while C. McKim Norton, director of the Regional Plan Association, reminded a Princeton Adult School audience that, by 1980, Mercer County would be in the heart of a fully-built area stretching from Boston for Portland, to New York, to Philadelphia, to Los Angeles, said Mr. Norton. "They stretch out their tentacles, and Mercer is squarely between them."

Urging his audience to "get your minds out of local planning and think as an area," Mr. Norton nevertheless advised Princeton residents to pin down the goals and policies they wanted Princeton to follow, and to "get steamed up about them."

He warned of the deluge of new families that would come when the 1945 crop of babies married and began to seek homes, probably on half-acre plots.

"Each town has its in its power to change the character of the area," Mr. Norton warned. "All you need to start a home and development is a banker and a bulldozer, and the pressure will be irresistible in the next decade."

Township officials, perhaps more sensitive to problems of space and its utilization than their Borough counterparts, attended Mr. Norton's lecture, and will be on hand for the rest of the Adult School's "Community Planning" course. Those who have enrolled are Gerald Breese, John Mount, and James Campbell from the Township Planning Board; Zoning officer Wilbur J. Shinn and his assistant, Robert de Witt; Administrator Joseph R. Nini; assistant engineer Frank Quinby and Gordon Griffin, who is attorney for both Township and Borough; Alvin Carrick and Albert Austen of Borough Council's Future of Princeton Committee have also enrolled.

SCHOOL PROPERTY EYED
By University. Princeton University is considering purchase of the Nassau Street School, President Robert F. Goheen said this week.

The property will be offered to prospective purchasers when plans are completed for the proposed educational center which the Borough Board of Education plans on a 15-acre tract north of Princeton High School. Voter approval to purchase the land was given last week, and a second referendum to approve building plans will be held at a later date.

Princeton's interest in the Nassau Street School arises from the fact that the building lies between the University's 16 million engineering quadrangle on Olden Street and others on Washington Road. "It is obviously a pretty large piece of property that stands between important parts of the University," said President Goheen.

He added that, when such an opportunity to buy the school precincts itself, "some serious thinking must be done by the University." The Board of Education anticipates some $625,000 from sale of the Nassau Street School—basing its figure on the 320 feet along the main thoroughfare at $2000 per foot. An additional $480,000 may be realized from sale of the Witherspoon School, the Board believes.

The Board has made some

Directors of the Chamber of Commerce this week asked the town's two mayors and two governing bodies to appoint a fact-finding citizens committee to determine whether Princeton needs "two of everything" — municipal officials are, in effect, requesting to cease the delay in launching the old-discussed study of possible consolidation which was set page 19 for the full text of the passage.

Reprints of "Almanac for Newcomers" are now available to organizations and business firms wishing that the questionnaire should request them through the Princeton Bank and Trust Company, which has made the booklet available as a public service. Individuals who would like a few copies may obtain them from TOWN TOPICS — those who have already read reserved them will be notified by the bank when to call for them.

Temperature readings in the 70's are becoming the exception rather than the rule... there was only one last week another this past Tuesday... minimum in the past seven days was 40.

September bowed out with nearly two inches of rain in its final week, nearly an inch and a half falling last Thursday... the month's total was a shade above normal, but contrary to the long-range forecast, the temperature ran below normal.

Vandalism in some form is rarely missing from the police blotter on successive days last week, street lights were broken on Prospect Avenue, totalling nine in all. A sports car owned by Rod McManigal, 39 Vandewater Avenue, had its canvas top slashed.

Gas thieves were also at work... one effort to siphon gasoline from a University-owned truck parked at the service building on William Street failed... another attempt netted a full tank from a car parked at Stanworth.

The week's only accident: Mrs. Rossina Palumbo, 54, 78 Cleverview Avenue, struck a car operated by Bernard Cooke, 36, 87 Rollingmead and suffered a whiplash of the neck... accident occurred Saturday morning at intersection of Linden Lane and Hamilton... Mrs. Palumbo was ticketed for failing to observe the "stop" sign.

Eleven-year old Margaret Stephenson, 72 Clay Street, was bitten twice by a dog owned by Mrs. Dorothy Skupwith, 19 Lytle... Borough Health Officer David Blake reports the dog has bitten four other persons this year and that police will determine its fate.

BANKS BATTLE

Over PSI Office Building. Objection by First National Bank caused the Borough Zoning Board to defer decision on the parking variance requested by Palmer Square, Inc. for its $1,350,000 office building. The bank expressed alarm at the inclusion of banking facilities for Princeton Bank and Trust Company in PSI's architectural plans. First National was given until Monday to prepare its arguments, which will be presented at a closed hearing.

Crawford Jamieson, attorney for First National, told the board that notice of the variance hearing did not convey the fact that the building was to house Princeton Bank and Trust. "We are as at sea as the bank investors and stockholders. On the radio we hear that this is the application of Princeton Bank and Trust for a variance."

The main office of Princeton Bank and Trust was transferred to the shopping center last May, Mr. Jamieson said. "The present Nassau Street office is a branch. Under New Jersey banking laws, a branch cannot be built within 1,000 feet of our bank without our consent, nor within 200 feet of a church without the approval of the church. First Presbyterian Church is located across the street from the planned building."

George R. Cook, 3d, president of Princeton Bank and Trust, stated from the floor. "There is nothing in the law that says it cannot be within 1,000 feet of another bank." He added, "This is not an auxiliary office in any sense of the word." He told the board the bank "might become the tenant of one or two floors." He said that the transfer of the main office to the shopping center was done because of the potential growth of the Township. At present, "the main business is done at our technical branch on Nassau Street."

Poe Questions Plan. John P. Poe, president of First National, rose to ask Mr. Cook if his bank "would give up its present Nassau Street site" if and when it moved into the PSI building, Mr. Cook answered in the affirmative. Fred Blaicher, president of Palmer Square, Inc., remanded the board that "our application is for a building." Mr. Jamieson promptly asked, "Isn't the bank part of your presentation here?" Mr. Blaicher replied, "Only as a potential tenant."

Mr. Jamieson then asked whether PSI has an alternative plan. He pointed out the detailed architectural model which PSI architect Charles Agle had explained would contain banking floors, as well as drive-in and walk-up windows for depositors' convenience. Questions were also raised on the 171 needed parking spaces which PSI attorney Henry M. Stratton stated could be made available through use of PSI's present parking lots. Traffic flow was also debated.

The Playhouse parking lot, PSI said, has 190 spaces available. 36 of which are assigned to the Nassau Inn wing. There are 166 spaces in the John Street lot behind Palmer Square West, and 43 in the parking area behind the postoffice. Parking for 27 cars would be provided on the office building lot.

The amount of usage the lots now receive and the parking fee charged for the Playhouse parking lot were debated.

Albtridge O. Smith, 3d, an attorney with offices at 23 Palmer Square West, a member of the Palmer Square, Inc. board of directors and an organizing figure in the present zoning laws, spoke on behalf of the PSI request for a variance.

"I don't think that the zoning procedure should be distorted to delay," he said. "PSI, almost alone in this town has provided off-street parking far beyond the call of duty. All they are asking in this case is a variance for parking which is not immediately on the site."

He said that efforts to have the Borough Council assume responsibility for parking in the downtown area have been repeatedly turned down. "It is virtually impossible for any property owner to provide the desired parking spaces for a new building. Speaking as chairman of the Zoning-Parking Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, we feel every effort should be made to encourage this type of building in downtown Princeton. Whether a bank is located here or not, I think PSI has full right to develop this property."

Other Applications. Donald Sawyer of 60 Hedge Road was granted permission to build a one-story addition at the rear of his house.

The application of Leon J. Christen of 142 Leabrook Lane, secretary of Christen Realty Company, to convert six hotel rooms at 5-7 Witherspoon Street over Lahiere's Restaurant into two apartments was approved, providing a fire escape approved by the Borough Engineer was installed.

Apartments Approved. The board gave its blessing to the plans of Lawrence Norris Kerr of his house.

of the other board members, and the motion died.

Graham Rohrer, board president, told Mrs. Strayer and the sizeable audience present, that the board is anxious to cooperate in every way in a school's study.

"We believe, and have so stated to both mayors, that total consolidation of these communities would represent the ideal solution as far as the problem affects the Borough

from the Westminster Choir College "automatically reverts to the Choir College as of August 1, 1963—if the building is not begun by that date." The township study schedule, by their own calculations, will not be completed until 1964."

North by Northeast. Mr.
Rohrer added, "There are two issues here. One, the replacement of out-dated schools, and two, consolidation or merger studies. To mingle these two issues is a great public disservice. Don't mix the two and use one against the other.
There is nobility in Princeton who wants to get a study up and voted on more than 1."

One of the residents presented how a new study could be implemented. "Just go north by northeast a little and get your attention on the municipal government to start the study," Mr. Rohrer said.

Organization Committees.
Four committees are being formed to handle various aspects of the planned building.

Dog Days Return

Whether it's chilly
Or whether it's hot,
When October is here,
I always get shot.
— FIDO

From where Fido sits, it appears some one is getting ready to give him the needle again. He's right—the Borough's annual fall rabies clinic will be held next week, and dogs who have not been inoculated will be refused their 1963 licenses.
Weatherwise, the situation was less cloudy for man than for his dog. Generally clear and mild for the next two days, the Man reports, with no real precipitation in sight.

According to Mr. Rohrer, there will be a building committee to study with borough and township and sending district officials and to assure the people of the community that this school will not be constructed to prejudice consolidation, but to fit a city requirement that might develop should consolidation be effective at some future time.

There will be a municipal and legal affairs committee which will meet with the mayors of the borough and township and the Borough planning board. The board will operate as a Committee of the Whole when the time comes to select an architect and to act as reference on the whole building operation.

A citizens advisory committee will also be formed. Appoints to the committees will be announced in about a week or ten days. Mr. Rohrer said.
Present at the session were Mrs. D. Barton Stevens, Borough PTA president; Mrs. J.
M. Knapp and Mrs. Paul Ash-lor, Borough PTA; Mrs. John F. Fischer, high school PTA;
C. Bergen Groendyke, auditor;
Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Palmer; Mrs. Nancy H. Smith; Mrs.
Esther H. Roberts; Mrs. Grace
M. Lortscher; Mrs. W. W.
Tarnhall; Councilman and Mrs. Albert A. Austen; Dr.
Harvey Rothberg; Charles D.
Allen, Mr. and Mrs. John A.
Buckland, John W. Ballantine,
Mrs. J. Seymour Montgomery,
Mrs. Robert Farmer and Mrs. John Marks.

CITIZENS NAMED
To School Committee. Herbert S. Bailey, Jr., 53 Hun Road, has been appointed chairman of the Citizen's School Planning Committee of the Township. Richard Pearson, president of the Township School Board, announced the members of the committee this week.

Those who will serve with Mr. Bailey are Mrs. George Fremont, 311 Western Way, vice-chairman; Mrs. Seymour
Bogdonoff, 39 Randell Road,
Max Blumenthal, 39 Randell Road; Professor L. V. Chan-der, 88 Westley Road; Miss Katherine Lyons, 242 Moore

son, 36 Marion Road East;
Glen Miller Jr., 243 Russell

Overbrook Drive; Professor Frank C. Shoemaker, 361 Walnut Lane; Mrs. Harold Sprout, 93 McCosh Circle, and James Ward, 187 Birch Avenue.

The Committee, which will begin work immediately, hopes to produce a final report by June, 1964, on new elementary

INTIME PLAYS LISTED
Subscriptions Offered. The short focal length of Murray Theatre and the excitement engendered by its site—the feeling that, if an actor drops his lines, they will fall into your lap—have again made the University's Theatre Intime productions interesting ones to the Princeton community.

This year, Intime announces for the first time a season-ticket arrangement which entitles a subscriber to the three major productions planned for the year (most of these later, reduced rates to Community Players or McCarter productions given in Murray, and lower prices for "The Arts at Princeton" series, which is due again this season.

For its three major productions, Intime will offer "Streetcar Named Desire," "The Devil's Disciple" and "Five Finger Exercise," all of which will run for three weekends instead of the usual two.

There will also be Freshman One-Act Plays and a program of original one-acters. The freshman offerings will be Saroyan's "Hello Out There" and O'Casey's "Bedtime Story." They and the original one-acters will be offered to subscribers free.

The package costs $5, and may be ordered by writing to Princeton Theatre Intime, Murray Theatre, Princeton University. Additional information may be obtained by calling WA 4-2967 or WA 4-0355.

PLAYHOUSE

Music Man (Today thru Tues.) Robert Preston, who played 882 performances on Broadway in the lead of the show, again carries the burden of the story on the screen as Harold Hill, the fast-talking, love 'em and leave 'em traveling salesman. He specializes in selling band instruments and uniforms in small towns, even though he doesn't know a note of music. Opposite him in almost as strenuous a part is Shirley Jones as Marian, "Madam Librarian."

Other citizens of River City, Iowa, in the early Twentieth Century, are engagingly played by Buddy Hackett as Preston's sidekick and child, Hermione Gingold as the pretentious wife of the pompous mayor, and Paul Ford as the mayor. The barber-shop quartet, the Buffalo Bills, is properly nostalgic. The dance sequences range from simplicity to elaborate production numbers, all lustily and joyously performed. Outstanding is the memorable "76 Trombones" done in two different versions. Comment: whistling and stamping to the Pied Piper.

I Thank A Fool (Oct. 10-16) stars Susan Hayward and Peter Finch in a highly emotional story of a woman doctor who has been sent to prison for a "mercy killing." She subsequently becomes involved with the prosecutor who had hounded her.

The movie was filmed in color in Ireland and England and the settings heighten the suspense. Comment: a good chiller.

IT'S NEW

To Us

GOING ABOARD?

You Never Know, the world being what it is today (but that's another story), anyone in almost any job could be called upon to jet to Nigeria on short notice, suitcase chained to the wrist, passport in the other hand.

It is this passport that can give all kinds of trouble to the passenger who has to make a fast trip without much advance notice. Where can you get a passport picture taken at 7 a.m. in time to make it to idelwild, and so on.

With these confusions in mind, Travelax and Alan Richards have started something called a Passport Clinic which is guaranteed to provide you with a passport picture in the time it takes to set off a photographer's flash.

Starting next Wednesday night, you can go to the Travelax offices at 195 Nassau any time between 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. and have a passport picture taking free of charge.

The photographer will be Alan Richards, well-known for his varied and multitudinous picture-taking activities in Princeton. He will take your picture in the Travelax offices, and you will go home and sleep the sleep of the Well-Prepared.

Travelax will take three prints of you and keep them on file against the day when you need a passport. One print can be used for your international driver's license, one for your visa, one for your passport. Then when the boss says, "Off to Hong Kong on the morning plane", you have only to call Travelax and your passport picture is there.

As you probably know, passport pictures are good for only two years and then must be renewed, so if you already have a picture, you'd better check up on its vintage. Perhaps you need a rerun.

All this is absolutely free, and you need not make an appointment. Just go to Travelax any Wednesday night with your hair combed, and say "cheese."

DENNY WIPES CLEAN

Thorne is happy. Enthusiasm is mounting, as they say, at Thorne's these days over the products of Frances Denny's Cosmetics.

Take, for example, Quick Foam, a neutralized gel that washes skin clean without any drying after-effects. You pay $2.50 a tube, or $4.50 for a brush-and-foam kit.

Then there's a hand cream as sleek and supple as an invisible glove for hands that have had too much detergent or too little attention to cuticle, and "Oils of the Wilderness," a band and body lotion. "Fade-Away" will fade away freckles, brown spots or a tan that was glorious in July but

Light and Heat

Ladies who remember the old-fashioned curling iron (but there's nobody that old in Princeton!) will be curious about its granddaughter, the electric roller-curler now at Thorne's.

This $7.95 machine consists of three roller curlers in different sizes which slip onto an electric iron. Designed for bouffant hairdos on ladies who have no time to spare, the curler will take care of hair that has been tinted, hair that's exceptionally fine, hair that's just plain difficult.

Now, we come to Ronson's Vara-Flame cigarette lighter, which is also designed for ladies with bouffant hairdos, or any other kind for that matter. Ronson's lighter uses gas instead of lighter fluid, and this means a reduction in your cleaning bills.

You attach a pressure cap to the little valve in the lighter and wait 10 seconds while the lighter fills. Then, depending on whether you are a chain smoker or after-dinner only, you can count on many more hours of flame than you ever could with a conventional lighter.

Comes in table or pocket models, and if you still want the fluid, there are standard Ronsons at Thorne's, too.

as a "Twosome" and a "Threesome." Makes sense.)

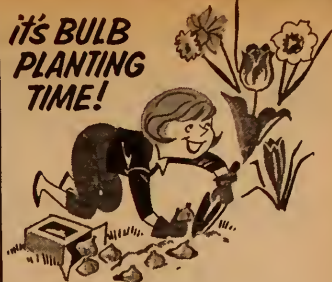

Revlon's Eterna 27, with progentin, is now $10.85 in the six-ounce $18 size. This is a night cream which provides very deep lubrication, and there is some heady talk about leveler lighting skin in 40 days (and 40 nights, presumably) after you begin.

Back to Cochran for a minute, we find the Body Beauty Treatment, with hydrolin, at $6.50 for the sixteen ounce size and $3.75 for the eight. "Like sheer, fragrant, velvet dew," Jacqueline says, and who will dispute her?

Matchabelli greets the season with "Golden Autumn," a luminous gold, black and orange package job that features huge, all-wool puffs in black.

KING-SIZE BEAUTYREST

You'll never rest your best while half the night must be spent struggling to maintain your share of a double bed. Even on a 50-50 basis that share makes for skimping sleeping. What to do about it? We suggest you make the switch to King-Size Beautyrest to get the extra length, the extra width, the extra comfort you both need to again sleep as sound as babies.

Yes, an extra 105 square inches of sleeping area means even more of that famous Beautyrest individual coil construction to lull you to sleep, more of that firm, buoyant, no-sag support. Why not sleep right tonight on a King-Size Beautyrest made only by Simmons?

dexterity of execution. Last week, he played the general with an eager eye for the girls in "Waltz of the Toreadors" at the Playhouse. In "Only Two Can Play" he appears as a librarian — but hardly one of the timid and bookish kind.

Sellers plays an extroverted, rough fellow given to aggressively going out of his way to assist attractive females who patronize the library. His problem is soon revealed, though contentedly married to a lovely woman and the proud father of two children, he has the seven-year itch, as far as his marriage is concerned. He is easy prey for Mai Zetterling, cast as a bored wife.

This situation leads to two hilarious scenes that are alone worth the price of admission, in which the would-be adulterers try to sin and fall. Comment: another lively British farce.

THE PRINCE

Music Man (Today thru Tues.) See review above.

A Very Private Affair (Oct. 10-13) stars Brigitte Bardot in a little life of a movie star tormented by the very popularity she had worked so hard to achieve. Most of her problems stem from the fact that the populace trail her about.

A series of lovers brings her to realize that she is in love with her friend's husband, portrayed by Marcello Mastroianni. She runs off with him to Spoleto, where he is directing a play.

The publicity about the romance soon sets the avid public on their trail. All of which has a familiar sound. Comment: pretty thin.

ur orange to go with the dusting powder, bath oil, spray cologne (2 sizes) or skin perfume cologne.

On the medicated side for ladies who really have skin problems, Thorne's has set fine Helena Rubinstein set for teens, consisting of Be-a-mity Washing Cream, a 10-minute medicated beauty mask and the medicated Water Lily lotion. The duBarry's is a medicated astringent face wash, cleansing grains, medicated make-up and a special compressed powder.

WHAT'S ELECTRICITY?

We Use Candles. When you can buy a candle that burns for 200 hours, why bother with electricity? Country Mouse has those magic, enfolded Blue-gate candles that slowly spill their light and their wax over the sides as they burn. Fascinating to watch at any stage of unkindling.

The Blue-gates are short, medium, taller and very tall cylinders, and they are measured by the length of time they last, 200 hours being the longest. From there, they go to 150, 100 and 50 hours of burning time.

Rose, olive, yellow, black, orange, white, blue — what color is for you?

Many candles this fall at Country Mouse are scented, and we found ourselves snif-

MADAM LIBRARIAN: Shirley Jones and Robert Preston star in "The Music Man" now at the Playhouse and the Prince.

ling about among the Essence of Spring, pot pourri, bayberry of course, heliotrope, lemon verbena, spice, rose geranium, strawberry, essence of Hawaii and roast loin of pork. Either by design or caprice, these candles have a freckled appearance which is quite appealing. Mottled, but gently so.

The talented artist-owner of Country Mouse has designed, for Christmas giving, a red mailing tube for gift candles. About 14 inches long and three inches in diameter, it will hold one of those cylinders mentioned, or six barberry tapers or a small non-gift holder and six refills.

The red tube has room for name and address, of course, and a splendid, richly detailed pen-and-ink drawing of an old-fashioned Father Christmas who beats any conventional Santa you ever saw.

Well, back to October. We're still in the candle department where Country Mouse has real beewax candles (slow-burning, not hot tempered like a bee) and those fancy Fol de Roi candles that look as though they had been dipped in sugar. Multicolored, in stacks of pastel colors, or pastel squares, or spirals, they are conversation pieces to like the guests' minds off the burned stick.

The specialite de la maison is candles, but Country Mouse has some other excitements this fall, too. Teens will go for a collection of alpaca hats, some made like elves' tall caps, others like Gossack hats, still others like great big blobs of fur. These are real alpaca, $14 to $20 in natural shades of brown, tan and cream. One magnificent specimen, which we see on a tall blonde, is well over a foot tall, with looping tassels to hang free, or tie under the chin.

There is also an alpaca rug made of black brown and white diamonds ($110) and a few pairs of alpaca boots to put under the bed. These are fuzzy blobs with fur lining to keep you warm inside and out. Until November 1, 15% discount on Christmas cards at Country Mouse.

possible Township senior high school.
As needed, the group will appoint sub-committees and special consultants. James Perkins, 265 Edgerstone, former vice-president of the school board, has already agreed to act as special consultant.

In making the announcement, Mr. Pearson said that present plans do not call for an immediate study of Township-Borough school merger, however, Mr. Pearson said that the Borough Board of Education is prepared to participate in such a study, the instructions to the citizens' committee will be extended to cover this possibility.

EDUCATIONAL TV EXED

At Princeton High. Programs from station WNBT-Channels 13 may soon be beamed into Princeton High School.
"We have no firm plans," Superintendent Chester R. Stroup reports, "but we are going to explore the educational program, especially in connection with our language laboratory. The school has antennas and wires for TV reception. We might put it to use in the visual aids room."

Dr. Stroup said that while no formal contact has been made with the station, the high school "would want to assist in any way we could. We'd like to explore the possibility of a tie-in with our experimental work in team teaching."
Neither the Witherspoon

Street or Nassau Street schools are equipped to receive TV programs. Dr. Stroup commented, "but I hope this new program will be included in the planning of our new building."
Dr. Stroup, who has been interested with educational TV since 1953, served for two years as a consultant to the Township Committee on Educational Television.

BIRTH LIST

Fourteen "Deductions." Fourteen children were born last week at Princeton Hospital; eight were boys.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Strickter, Box 164 Plainsboro, September 23; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schmitzlein, 75 Stuyvesant Road, Franklin Park, both on September 23; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewallen, 1155 Broadway Avenue, Trenton, September 26; Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bailey, 127 Wood Street, Hightstown, September 27; and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Chouandun, Route 69, Hopeville, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dufour, New Road, Lambertville, and Mr. and Mrs. John A. Council, Van Dyke Road, Lenoignton; all on September 29.

Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Barclay Jr., Orchard Avenue, Hightstown, September 28; Mr. and Mrs. Julius Nelson, 403-A Devereux Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Kolumb, 114144nd Drive, Cranbury, both on September 24; Mr. and Mrs. Robert, 188 Oakland Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Durbetski, 690 Rosedale Road, both on September 27; and Mr. and Mrs. George C. Easter, 33 Howe Circle, September 28.

TIME FOR POLITICS

Parties Speak Out. Borough Democrats announced this week that the campaign co-chairmen for James Andrews and Shaw Livermore would be Mrs. Harold Stein, 7 Greenholm, and Miss Mary Perone, 244 Witherspoon.

In the Township, Republican candidates John O. Green and Carl Schafer, continue to urge the establishment of a Joint Sewer Operating Commission, equally responsible to Borough and to Township with a full-time sanitary engineer to run the system.

"If we are elected, one of our first efforts would be directed to the establishment of a genuinely centralized and highly autonomous sewer operating organization," the candidates say in this week's statement. "We would carry out the remaining trunk sewer extensions and improvements which have been recommended, as rapidly as possible consistent with sound fiscal policy and demonstrably genuine need."

"The trouble-free operation of the sewer system should be Topic A in the series of studies of mutual cooperation now being set up by Borough Council and Township Committee," say the candidates.

Township Democrats John

Consolidation Study

Another informal session will be held this Thursday by the Borough and Township on the subject of a consolidation study. According to Mayor Henry N. Fatterson, the meeting at the home of Township Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman will be devoted to organization and committee assignments.

In addition to the two mayors, others expected to attend are M. F. Healy Jr. and William L. Friedman of the Township Committee, and Albert A. Austen and Dr. Elwood W. Godfrey of the Borough Council.

Little and James Foley focused this week on the problems of Negroes in the Princeton community following an address by the Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson of the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church before the Township Democratic Forum.

"Negroes are gradually being squeezed out of Princeton by the soaring tax rate and the initial cost of buying into white neighborhoods in either Borough or Township," the Rev. Mr. Anderson told the Forum.

He said that the percentage of Negroes in Princeton had dropped from 19 percent before the war to about 6 percent now, although the overall population had increased and he said he was shocked by the slow progress made in the acceptance of Negroes by the white community. He cited particularly the service clubs, Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis. He also said that 16 Negro families had found homes outside the Witherspoon-John area, 12 in the Township and four in the Borough.

"The notion of neighborhood schools is a travesty of justice when the community is, by tradition, a 'de facto' segregated community," the Rev. Mr. Anderson said to the Forum gathering. He also said, "Princeton boasts with pride to the fact that it can now park 400 more cars. But no investment is being made in a recreation center for teenagers."

CANDIDATES' NIGHTS SET

By Women Voters. The Princeton League of Women Voters will hold two Candidates' Nights this fall, one for local candidates and a second for county and congressional candidates.

Rep. Frank Thompson and his opponent, Ephraim Tomlinson, will appear with candidates for the office of freeholder at the County Candidates' Night on Tuesday, October 23, at Community Park School. Candidates for Borough and Township office will appear on Monday, October 29.

38 Years Experience

The new plan will divert any overflow into the Millstone and keep it out of Township streets, basements and Lake Carnegie.

In other business, Committee heard Mayor Fairman express the hope that the Borough Board of Education "will not be to precipitate" so that its school plans and the consolidation study can proceed jointly. Committeeman William Wilson said that Graham Rohrer, president of the Borough Board, had told him that the Board's next order of business would be to ask for a meeting with the Township Planning Board.

At both meetings the candidates will address themselves to questions prepared by members of the League, and they will also answer questions from the floor. Mrs. Sidney Liebes, Jr., has charge of both programs.

The Princeton League will sponsor a program for candidates for the Lawrence Township Committee on Thursday, October 25, in Lawrence Junior High School. Mrs. Joseph Wenograd has charge of this event.

The League is holding its annual drive for funds this week. The money will be used to continue the League's services. The League's voter service program includes voting information and candidate sheets, mailed to all Princeton and Lawrence voters, as well as the Candidates Nights.

VALLEY TO BE "THRU"
 Council Supports State. Bowing to the weight of sheer numbers, Township Committee decided Monday night to surrender to the demand of the Director of Motor Vehicles and reverse the Valley-Jefferson Road intersection. Valley will soon be "thru" at Jefferson, and motorists driving on Jefferson will have to train themselves to stop at Valley.

Actually, the decision is a compromise, because the state would like to see Valley "thru" all the way from Route 206 to the Shopping Center. The question of reversing the Witherspoon-Valley intersection was referred back to the Township Traffic Safety Committee for another count because the original traffic count was made when school was not in session. There are two schools near the intersection.

The Traffic Safety Committee's automatic counter showed, during one week in June (after school was over for the summer) the following tally: cars on Valley at Jefferson, 26,577; cars on Jefferson at Valley, 14,182; cars on Witherspoon at Valley, 26,580; cars on Valley at Witherspoon, 21,077.

On a Friday — the busiest day in this particular area, there were 5,059 on Valley at Jefferson; 2,644 on Jefferson at Valley; 4,334 on Witherspoon at Valley and 3,992 on Valley at Witherspoon. The counter tallied cars approaching the intersection and therefore included those making turns as well as those continuing across.

It is possible that Committee may make Valley-Jefferson a four-way stop street until motorists get used to the switch. A four-way arrangement is not legal, but it is allowed for 30 days as a temporary measure.

There is some feeling on the part of Township officials — Police Chief James Campbell included, according to administrator Joseph Nini — that the Valley-Jefferson intersection is needed as a brake for cars driving at 40-45 miles an hour down Bayard Lane, around Route 206 and into Valley Road.

Sewers. Committee stamped its approval on the sewer report made last week by Borough Engineer Arthur Brokaw, and Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman told Committeeman John S. Mount that Mr. Brokaw would go ahead with details and blueprints as soon as all governing bodies had indicated approval.

The project, to cost $68,000, will include a 600-foot line paralleling the existing trunk sewer along River Road, an enlarged by-pass at the pumping station; replacement of a one-million-gallon-per-day pumping unit with a five-million one; a new standby generator and chlorinating equipment.

"This should have been done years ago," said Mayor Fairman, "the original plan back in the '30s called for a parallel line whenever it was needed, and the Sewer Operating Committee is just now getting around to it."

Parking Lots Debated.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
This past Thursday the attorney for Palmer Square, Inc. incorporated made his case before the Borough Zoning Board of Adjustment to allow off-street parking for 171 automobiles his client wishes to bring into the Palmer Square area.

It is a pity that more Princetonians could not have been at the hearing to watch the procedure by which the face of this town could be changed so drastically. One organization, Palmer Square, Incorporated, (known familiarly as PSI), has already bought about more significant changes in this community than any other individual or corporate entity.

PSI is a business corporation which owns many acres of land and several buildings in the center of the Borough. It now wishes to build a five-story office building on Nassau Street, a building which could safely hold five or six hundred people under present fire regulations.

We are assured that the actual number would be somewhat less. Under a Borough ordinance, anyone buying a new business establishment must provide on-site parking for the customers and employees expected in the new building.

By the formula in the ordinance the proposed new building would need 171 parking spaces. With permission from the Zoning Board the builder can provide parking space on his own property within 400 feet of the new building. PSI was asking such permission.

One could dwell upon statements by PSI's architect at the hearing that the new building would be prettier than the present grassy plot and that PSI is performing a valuable place to meet friends before going to lunch, but the hearing had to do with automobiles. The fascinating thing about the proceedings was that hardly anyone wanted to talk about automobiles.

It appears that PSI certainly has enough parking spaces for the new building. Princetonians have watched over the past few years the blossoming of new parking lots in the center of the town. Houses have come down on PSI land and the residents have been invited to look elsewhere for lodgings.

Their choice is somewhat limited, of course, by their color and their slender resources. It is said that their houses were shabby looking, a curious thing in view of the fact that they were owned by PSI which now wishes to raise a new office building costing a million and a half million dollars. The new commercial face of Princeton has apparently won a high priority ranking.

Back to the 171 automobiles. Would they occupy new parking spaces, that is, ones not now being used? Well, no. It seems that automobiles now park on most of the spaces where PSI intends to put the 171 additional ones.

The president of PSI did not have exact figures on this matter, in fact, he did not have any figures, but he guessed that perhaps 75% of PSI's parking spaces are now used on business days. What would happen to the automobiles that now park on spaces that would have to be used by the new building? They would have to go elsewhere. Where?

PSI has evidently not gone into this question. One hopes the Zoning Board and the Borough Council have. The layman would suppose that either the Borough or PSI will soon have to build new parking lots if this application is approved. With new parking lots it would no doubt become attractive to construct new buildings and we could welcome more automobiles. Who would say goodbye to those Princetonians whose houses would come down?

THE LAUNDRY

MARK STORY

This little mark . . . really a series of letters and numbers . . . printed either on the shirt tail or inside the collar often tells a story. Not only does it tell in what cities or towns the shirt has been laundered, but what laundry or laundries in the communities have performed the service. We at the Washomat have been making a study of the laundry marks on the shirts that come to us. We note a trend in that shirts have been laundered by one two, often three or four other local laundries before they come to us. It would seem that the owners of said shirts are "shopping around" for a laundry whose performance meets their specifications. We also note with great pride that these very "laundry-travelled" shirts stay with Washomat once our laundry mark has been added. Why not let us add our mark to your shirts, and enjoy our quality shirt service. The Washomat, 258 and 259 Nassau Street.

Falling Glass Cuts Two

Two spectators at Saturday's Princeton-Rutgers football game were cut, neither seriously, by glass that fell from a broken window in the Palmer Stadium press box.

Edward E. Watts, III, a Princeton student, received three stitches in his scalp and was treated for cuts of the face and hands at the University Infirmary. John J. Lackey, Jr., of 222 North Harrison Street was treated and bandaged at the game by the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad.

The accidents occurred when rope holding a press box window open snapped, the window slammed shut, breaking the glass. The broken glass fell onto the corrugated roof of the press box and slid down into the stands.

MAAZEL CONDUCTS
French National Orchestra.
The new season of Princeton University Concerts opened on Tuesday evening at McCarter Theatre with a program played by the French National Orchestra known more formally as "L'Orchestre National de la Radiodiffusion-Télévision Française", under the direction of the young American conductor Lorin Maazel.

The program, which could hardly be described as adventurous, included the "Italian" Symphony of Mendelssohn, Stravinsky's "Petrouchka" (almost completely deleted), "Prelude to the Afternoon of a Faun," and — surprise! — the Second Suite from Ravel's "Daphnis and Chloé," without which, it seems, no conductor considers a concert in Princeton to be complete.

It is to be hoped that the Concerts Committee can find some satisfactory way of preventing further repetitions of this particular chestnut, which we have now heard three times in the past four years. Perhaps a list of other loud noises with which to conclude programs could be made available to orchestras suffering from lack of imagination. Unfortunately, it cannot be said that the French National Orchestra makes up for its lack of imagination by demonstrating an exceptionally high standard of orchestral playing — nor were the anxieties raised by the tempo change up on stage before the concert quieted by much evidence during the performance. In fact, no great care had been taken about this matter before the players came on stage. Intonation throughout the evening varied from fair to downright poor, certain of the woodwinds being most conspicuously delinquent in this respect.

On the credit side can be mentioned the piano soloist in "Petrouchka," and the flute solo in the Debussy and Ravel works, although his high standard was never matched by his associates, especially at the beginning of the Ravel's "Spot where we have had clarinet trouble once before." On the whole, the second half of the program could be said to pass muster according to present-day standards in this sort of thing, with the general qualifications already noted above. The Berlioz "Roman Carnival" Overture, presented as an encore, was also fairly effective — plenty of vigor, and much subtlety.

In the first half of the program, Mr. Maazel must be accused of at least one error of judgment: the omission of the repeat of the exposition in the first movement of the Mendelssohn. Often in the 19th century, this repeat was indicated, merely for the sake of convention, but since here Mendelssohn has gone to the trouble of composing a passage of some 20 measures leading back to the opening of the movement, we may take it that he intended the repeat to be made the fairest way. More likely, it may be pointed out that he is not the first offender in this respect, Arturo Toscanini being among his more celebrated predecessors.

Some of Mr. Maazel's other ideas in the Mendelssohn do not commend themselves to this corner, such as the disregard for the tempo articulation at the beginning of the first movement's coda, the way in which the tempo of the Trio was allowed progressively to slow down, and the alteration of some timpani passages in the last movement. Some nice touches were achieved, however, sooner or later, a scramble in the strings or some cacophony of the winds occurred to mar one's pleasure.

In this year of Stravinsky's canonization, "Petrouchka" is hardly news any more, but it certainly was a surprise to hear the composer's old concert ending (a very unsatisfactory makeshift) instead of the original ballet finale, which only takes a few more minutes, and adds a good deal to the coherence of the work. This coherence suffered still more, however, from the rhythmic disjunctions of the performance; transitions between sections of different meter and texture were often not smooth, the conductor failing to attend to the conclusion of one matter while he got set for the next one (as, for example, in the hurdy-gurdy episode in the first tableau). With all of this, the performance did have its moments; Mr. Maazel's future should be watched with interest.

VIOLINIST TO PLAY

In New Hope Series, Sonya Monoff, violinist, will play this Sunday with Igor Kipnis, harpsichordist, in a recital to be given by the New Hope Music Series at the Centre Bridge Inn, three miles above New Hope, on River Road across the Delaware from Stockton, N. J. For their program, which will begin at 3 p.m., Miss Monoff and Mr. Kipnis will draw upon the works of Corelli, Vivaldi, Mozart, Scarlatti and J. S. Bach. No advance reservations are necessary.

Praised by their wealth of insight and sympathy for the music, Miss Monoff and Mr. Kipnis have also been cited for their high accomplishments and their ability to present "a most satisfactory concert." Mr. Kipnis is the son of Alexander Kipnis, the noted basso.

TWO CONCERTS ADDED

To University Series, two quartets will come to Princeton during the 1962-63 concert season to present programs outside the announced list: 2 Series I and Series II of the Princeton University Concert Series.

The Loewenquart Quartet from France will play in McCosh Hall at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, December 5, and the Paganini Quartet from California on Monday, February 25 at the same time and place.

Tickets are $1.50 and $2.50 for each concert, and may be ordered by sending a check payable to Princeton University Concerts to Mrs. Mackenzy Bryan, 12 South Middle Reunion Hall, Princeton University. A stamped, self-addressed envelope should be enclosed. Tickets will also be on sale at the University Store two weeks before the concert, and at the door, if any are left.

Chico Hamilton

CHICO COMING

Uninhibited, "without inhibitions, flexible and free" (the "free" referring to style and not to ticket cost) is the way Chico Hamilton talks about his Quintet, due to open the fall program of the Student Entertainment Bureau this Saturday at 8:30. Chico and his five will play in McCarter.

Drums, bass, guitar, tenor and trombone are involved in the Quintet, playing a sound described as warm, sensuous and refreshing, a kind of soft, foot-tapping jazz that has found considerable favor with people who buy Chico's Columbia records.

Formerly associated with Duke Ellington, Count Basie and Gerry Mulligan, Chico has also served as accompanist for such stars as Lena Horne, Harry Belafonte, Sammy Davis, Jr. and Ella Fitzgerald.

Subsequent efforts by the Student Entertainment Bureau will bring to Princeton Lloyd Price and The Coasters (Friday, October 19, Dillon Gym) and The Journeymen (Saturday, November 10, Dillon Gym).

Tickets for Chico Hamilton may be purchased at the University Store and McCarter Theatre.

COME EARLY

Says Adult School. The Princeton Adult School has asked students to plan to arrive early for their classes in order to minimize the parking problems that have been created by one of the largest enrollments in the school's history.

The School said it may be necessary to park cars a block or two from Princeton High School, where classes are held.
Students who park in restricted areas or who double park have in the past made it difficult for other drivers to leave.

This Thursday Herbert H.
Smith, president of his own planning firm in Trenton, will speak in the lecture series of the Community and Regional Planning. Thomas Hilbush, director of the Princeton University High School, will speak in the series on Music Through the Ages.

On October 11, the speakers will be Charles K. Agle, Princeton architect and planning consultant, and Richard Kelelman, a member of the music department at Princeton University. Individual admissions are available in each series.

PROBLEMS CONSOLIDATION WILL SOLVE BEST FOR YOU

WATER

Do You Remember...

- When the Water Company had so little foresight about water needs that Princeton was the only place in this area to have its water rationed?
- When some faucets went dry last spring—when there wouldn't have been enough pressure for fire-fighting?
- When mysterious contamination made some water unfit to drink?
- When people found insect larvae in their drinking water?

And Do You Realize that...

- Being privately owned, Water Company transactions are secret, and the public has no information on this important utility?
- Being privately owned, the Company's first obligation is to its stockholders, not to the people it is supposed to serve?
- You, the consumer, have no control over its efficiency, its planning—or its lack of planning?

SEWERS

Do You Remember...

- When raw sewage backed up into kitchens and bathrooms on Prospect Avenue Extension?
- When sewer pressure on Valley Road hurled 70 lb manhole covers into the air?
- When sewers overflowed last spring into storm drains emptying into Lake Carme, turning the lake into an open cess-pool?

Do You Realize that...

- Sewers in the West End are so antiquated, the oldest in town, that they must be replaced soon? That it will cost more to replace them than to build new lines?
- The main trunk lines, into which both Borough and Township sewers lead, are overloaded and clogged? That they will need expensive and extensive repairs any day?
- Sewer maintenance is borne 38% by the Township, 44% by the Borough, 18% by the University—regardless of latest census figures?

These unsafe and unhealthy conditions can be corrected by:

1. Ownership of the Water Company by a consolidated government of all of Princeton. (80% of U.S. cities have found municipal ownership economical, successful.)
2. Control of sewerage under one effective body responsible to one consolidated Princeton government.

Consolidation can be accomplished without loss of jobs or change of status by people in Borough and Township educational systems, police forces, fire department, or in local government offices and bureaus. Consolidation can be accomplished without creating unfair tax burdens, because the law permit setting differential tax rates, based on existing debts.

YES FOR Y.E.S.

Youth Service Reports. Since the Youth Employment Service opened on May 15, 1961, it has registered 753 young people and made 1,669 job placements, according to a report submitted at the annual meeting of YES held last week at the YMCA.

The report also stated that 68 business firms in Princeton have asked for help from the Service. Mrs. Conard D. Perkins, co-executive director of the YES office, said that 13 communities in New Jersey have asked for information about Princeton's service and six have sent representatives here for discussions.

Board members from Princeton have worked closely with Morristown and Plainfield to help these communities establish youth employment services, said Mrs. Douglas Langston, president, in making her report.

New officers and members of the board of directors were elected at the annual meeting. Mrs. Langston was re-elected to the position of president. Other officers are: Mrs. L. Valdemar Silvester, Jr., first vice-president; Lewis S. Kraft, second vice-president; Mrs. Raymond F. Male, secretary and William Hilgendorf, Jr., treasurer.

New board members are Mesdames Marver H. Bernstein, Frederick Barrell, David Parnes and Janet Humes, and new members of the volunteer office staff are Mesdames Benjamin Shimberg, Theodore Sloos, George Barrie, H. Gilbert Nicol and Alfred Sommer.

The Youth Employment Service is open to young people from 14 years and attending the 8th grade, through 19 years. Registrants must live in Princeton or go to school in Princeton. The YES office is on the ground floor of Dorchester House, 129 John Street, and is open from 1-5 daily and 9-noon Saturday.

TO PROMOTE HOUSING

On "Open" Basis. A clearing-house for home-buyers, home-sellers and renters who believe in the principle of open occupancy, will be established this fall by the YMCA in the "Y" building on Avon Place.

Volunteers will be available at the "Y" from 1-4 on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays to acquaint prospective Negro buyers with the Princeton housing market and to work with the Princeton Housing Group in locating homes.

The committee will also welcome calls from Princeton residents willing to sell or rent without discrimination. The number for the clearing house is WA 4-4825, ext. 26, and the "Y" has asked that all phone calls relating to the program be made during the days and hours listed above.

In describing the program, the Public Affairs Committee

NOW IS THE TIME FOR ALL GOOD MEN: A Democratic Party rally will be held on Saturday, October 27, at the Nassau Inn for the good of the party, and although it is the first such affair to be given by the Princeton Democratic Club, the organization hopes to make it annual. of the YMCA announced that the "Y" Board of Directors has given its unanimous stamp of approval to the project. The Public Affairs Committee, under Mrs. Arthur Link, chairman, has also declared its support of brokers who are showing houses on an open-occupancy basis, and has commended Princeton churches whose congregations are signing covenants of open-occupancy.

Liaison between the YMCA and the Princeton Pastors Association is Mrs. Charles Jones. Serving with her and with Mrs. Link are Mesdames Orin C. Hopper, Lawrence Houston, David Saunders and Stuart Wallace. Mrs. Marver Bernstein is a non-member advisor to the group.

VETERANS' OFFICE OPENS

One-Day Service Available. The New Jersey State Division of Veterans' Services will have a representative at the Borough Hall every Thursday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. All veterans and widows of veterans who have questions involving pensions, compensation, insurance, tax exemption, Civil Service preference or any other benefits under either Federal or State Laws may avail themselves of this service. The Borough Council has turned over the Council Chambers at Borough Hall for this purpose.

NEW LION LEADERS

Installation Held. The Lawrenceville Township Lions Club has inducted its officers for 1962-63. The installation took place at a dinner-dance at the Compass Restaurant on U. S. 1.

Question of the Week

Question: In your opinion, should a person who is incurably ill be told the truth?

Where asked: Around town.

Ray Wadsworth, 32 Spruce Street, Princeton Water Co. employee: No, I feel if a person is told that he is going to die, he might just give up. They shouldn't be told because in many cases it would hurt their feelings. If a man loves to go fishing and you tell him he isn't going to be able to fish much longer, that could kill him right there. And there is no guarantee that a doctor's prediction that a person is going to die is not subject to error.

Elmer J. Rodweller, 18 Chestnut Street, retired policeman: I feel the same way. A person shouldn't be told because it would affect him emotionally. If a person knew he were going to die, he wouldn't try to help himself. A doctor should try to be on the side of the patient and encourage him. He should keep their hopes up and treat them as long as it is possible.

Mrs. Peter Lefferts, Cherry Valley Road, estimator, Princeton Printing Company: I think it depends on the person. There are people who would rather know who worry more rather than not told all the facts. And there are people who would kill if they were told. I think most doctors are qualified to judge their patients whether it would be in the best interests of the patient to divulge this. I think it is a matter between the doctor and the person he is treating.

Mrs. Hilde Cavanaugh, Skillman, housewife: I wouldn't want to know if I were in that situation. I think it would make everyone closer to it. I might make me feel sicker than I actually was. Of course if it were something that wouldn't happen right away, then I might want to know. But if it were something that was going to happen quickly, no.

William Brown, 168 John Street, truck driver: Yes, I think so. Why joke about it? If you're sick, you're sick. I know I'd want to know.

Mrs. Alfred Baird, 301 Nassau Street, housewife: Depends on the person whether he's a neurotic or not. If he can take it, I think he should be told. If not, I'd just not tell him or kid along. I would like to be told so you can make plans and not have the family in a stew.

Mrs. James Hayes, 308 Dodds Lane, housewife: No, I don't think so. I think it is much kinder for them not to know. I feel if they do know or find out, they will give up hope. I think a person will very often fight illness if he believes there is hope of some kind.

Miss Sabina Melody, 131 Hamilton Avenue, waitress: Yes, I think people who have money and a property should think carefully about what they want to do with it and make out their wills. That's one thought.

Donald Briggs, 7 Greenwood Avenue, painter: I don't think so. I think you give them more to worry about and probably make them a lot sicker than they actually are. I don't see any advantage in telling them.

Mrs. William Hobson, Southera Way, housewife: I think so. I think people want to face up to the truth always. They feel cheated otherwise.

Ned Nabers, Titusville, graduate student in archaeology: I think it depends mainly on the circumstances and above all on the individual concerned. It would depend on their mental stability and also the desires of the closest of kin.

Mrs. Robert Gilpin, 48 Murray Place, housewife: That would depend on a person's emotional and mental strength. Some people are capable of understanding and facing life and death. Some are not.

Mrs. Judith Walter, 18 N. Newark Avenue, housewife: Yes, because if it's his life and he's losing it, it seems immoral, to me, not to tell.

Barry Nolan, Foulke Hall, University junior: Yes, I think so. There may be certain things he hasn't done which he feels he wants to do before his life ends. He should be given a chance to fulfill these desires. I think the doctor would want to know if he were incurably ill.

Joseph E. Bachelder, Riverside Drive, director of industrial advertising, Research Institute: That depends entirely on the person and the doctor, and what the doctor knows about the patient, and the relationship between the doctor and the patient. The doctor.

the family and the patient himself should be considered before any decision is made.

Mrs. Katrina Staten, 301 Nassau Street, housewife: Yes, I think they should be. I feel it is a question of honesty. A person shouldn't be kept in the dark, so to speak. A person has no control over whether he becomes incurably ill or not and I think any person in his right mind would want to know. There may be some exceptions where there is a chance for recovery where it would be detrimental to the person's health to be completely honest, but when one is incurably ill, as you state in your question, then I think they

I think they should be told. If they are in command of their mental faculties, is that they can make apiritual decisions which perhaps they haven't dealt with seriously before this time. At least they would have the chance to know ahead of time and begin to start thinking about these things.

Mrs. L. H. Meekin, Princeton, housewife: Yes, I think so because I think a person has a right to know if you know the truth. Some people let these things go until the last minute and then, if not told, they might become mentally and physically incapable of attending to them.

A Statement of Fact
From the President,
OIL HEAT COUNCIL of New Jersey

IRVING OELBAUM

THE ACTUAL FIGURES

There's been a lot of confusion recently about the number of homes using various fuels in our state. It's high time somebody gave the New Jersey public the straight facts and I can't think of a better authority than the United States Census of 1960. Here's what this source reports:

Number of Households in N. J. ....	1,806,100
HOUSEHOLDS USING OILHEAT .....	1,135,300
Households Using Utility Gas .....	446,200
Households Using Coal & Coke .....	184,400
Bottled LP Gas .....	20,700
Electricity .....	4,400
Wood .....	3,800
Other .....	5,800
None .....	5,500

These are the statistics. OILHEAT is more than 2½ times more popular than its nearest competitor.

WHAT PEOPLE LIKE ABOUT OILHEAT

OILHEAT is crystal clean — there are no dangerous fumes to worry about.

OILHEAT offers security of supply — an ample supply right in your own storage tank where you know you can depend on it.

OILHEAT offers complete service — not just the flame in your burner.

OILHEAT offers the public a wide choice of responsible dealers — none of whom has a monopoly.

OILHEAT is a thrifty fuel as proved by "The Engineers' Report" . . . an independent survey of all the major home heating fuels in the state.

Your OILHEAT dealer is prepared to give you all the facts about all the home heating fuels available in our state. He will answer your questions honestly and simply. Why not phone him soon? You'll discover — as have over a million Jersey families — that he's a good man to know . . . and he appreciates your business.

HE MUST HAVE READ HIS PRESS NOTICES: The 1962 fact-book on Princeton football says that end Barry Schuman "has excellent pass-catching abilities," and Saturday's game with Rutgers was less than a period old when the Princeton senior proceeded to prove the point. With 40,000 looking on, he leaped for an 11-yard aerial from tailback Greg Riley, coming down just inside the end zone for a TD, despite lunging tackle by Scarlet tailback Bob Yaksick.

SPORTS In Princeton

Ivy Opener Ahead And Tigers Are Eager. It was in 1957 that Princeton last won the Ivy League football title, and it may be considerably more than coincidence that the Tigers' last victory over Rutgers was also in 1957. Five years later, Dick Coleman's hard-nosed operatives have a long-awaited triumph over a good Rutgers team under their belts as they take dead aim on the Ivy championship. Columbia, which shared the honors with Harvard last fall, will provide Princeton with its first opportunity to move up the ladder in a game scheduled to start at 2 Saturday in Palmer Stadium.

Some day, the Tigers are going to lose to this particular

Ivy opponent, which hasn't beaten them since 1945. Because nothing is impossible in college football, and especially in Ivy League football, it could happen Saturday. It is, however, wholly unlikely. If Princeton's none-too-solid 1961 outfit could go into Baker Field, spot the best Columbia team in 15 years two touchdowns and twice come from behind to record a convincing 30-to-20 triumph, this fall's run-em-ragged Princetonians can virtually name their own score.

Lions' Quarterback Able. Fortunately for the normally under-manned New Yorkers, they have almost invariably been able to come up with a T quarterback of superior ability. The young field general is likely to step into the job as a sophomore, and pass valiantly for three seasons, hoping against hope that he'll have a couple of running backs who can keep the defense honest. When Columbia did arrive at that wholly unaccustomed state of affairs last year, with a veteran line on hand as well, it moved all the way to the top of the standings. Two of its ball carriers (halfbacks Tom Haggerty and Russ Warren) were good enough to earn tryouts with the New York Giants this year, although they did not survive the mid-August cuts.

To the line of stoutest Columbia quarterbacks which began with Sid Luckman (later a Chicago Bear) and has produced Mitch Price, Claude Benham and Tom Yessell in the last decade now comes a 19-year-old Archie Roberts. Unless some of his predecessors, Roberts can run as well as pass. In his team's opening game on 22-20 victory over Brown, he spearheaded a Lion offense that accounted for 203 yards, 119 of them in the air. The New Yorkers connected on 13 of 18 passes, a fourth-quarter ace that the Deerfield alumnus completed for 25 yards bringing the victory.

Princeton over Columbia. Lions hate single wing.
Harvard over Cornell. Crimson has better backs.
Dartmouth over Penn. Indians far better balanced.
Yale over Brown. But upset is possible here.
Last Week
6 Right, 1 Wrong — 357

Inexperience, Little Depth. A 195-lb. halfback, Captain Tom O'Conner, and a 180-lb. fullback, Mike Hassan, are the Lions' two best bets as ball carriers. Al Butts will run with O'Conner at halfback and Len DeFior, a letterman from whom Roberts won the starting job at quarterback, will run the Lions second team. Up front, graduation really riddled Coach Buff Donelli's squad. He can start only two lettermen, and last week rounded out his first 11 with four sophomores—the clearest indication that this is a rebuilding year. Actually, Columbia should be a considerably stronger team next fall—its 1962 squad consists of 30 sophomores, a dozen Juniors and only five senior lettermen.

Roberts will run the Lions out of Donelli's wing-T attack which flanks its halfbacks to either side and splits the left end eight to ten yards from the tackle. The attack provides for considerable fluid motion and last year, with the veteran Lions executing it well, showed both power and deception. Given a dry field, Roberts will pitch and pitch, providing a busy afternoon for the Princeton outfielders. He may connect for one or even two that produce touchdowns, but it is hard to see this 1962 Columbia team becoming the first of its colors to win in Palmer Stadium since 1945.

RUTGERS VICTORY SOLID
Running Game Impressive. The greatest weapon that single wing football can produce is ball control—the ability to dominate a close game while moving toward a score that will nail down the decision. Last week in Palmer Stadium, some 40,000 watched one of the greatest demonstrations of single wing ball control created to a Princeton team in the past decade. Protecting a slim 8-7 lead, the Tigers marched 96 yards in 21 plays, the last sending fullback Bill Merivall wedging into the end zone for the touchdown that produced a decisive 15-7 triumph.

TWO POINTS THAT PUT TIGERS AHEAD TO STAY: Captain Dan Terpack turns Scarlet's right end on conversion try in first period. Greg Riley (44), a potential receiver on the pass-option play, turned blocker to remove John Hirt (67), Rutgers guard, from contention. Terpack met Bill Herring (22), defensive halfback, at goal line and butted his way into end zone to give Tigers 8-7 lead.

Spots In Princeton
So authoritative was the Tigers' running game at this stage of the close, well-played contest that they never once resorted to the air. Until Merlin wedged twice from point-blank range, Princeton averaged better than five yards per carry—and yet so methodical was the offense that it craved almost a full ten minutes from the clock.

Hard hit by graduation, Rutgers proved not to be quite too deep in some positions, and its least, Princeton came through the game in good shape and belief was that the three players who could not finish will be ready this weekend. End Harry Schuman, center Bob Burrus and wingback Jim Kokenbach all limped off during second half action, but none was listed as a major casualty. Several newcomers provided much to brighten the picture. Among them were Ron Rogers on of the 21 climactic plays in the fourth quarter, tailback Greg Riley was the ball carrier, sweeping the ends, slashing through tackle and, on one occasion, bursting through the middle from eight yards out to reach the end zone.

An onside penalty killed that, but he gained 11 yards on the next down through the same sector and two swipes at the middle of the massed Scarlet line took Merlini across. Both Tiger ball carriers gave fine performances: Riley carried 18 times for a 46 average, completed four of eight passes and totalled 123 yards; Merlini added 51 yards and compiled a 4.5 average.

It was a good Rutgers team that Princeton defeated to end the visitors' 12-game winning streak. The Scarlet's first quarterback in big Bob Vaskick, 146 yards, including eight of 14 passes; two good ball carriers in Bill Thompson and Drew Carollo and a big, capable line, in which center Jon Paulson and end Bill Craft were the standouts.

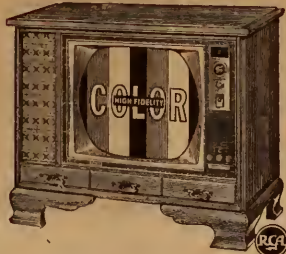

Thereafter, however, the losers tailed off in depth more quickly than anyone, including possibly Coach John Balesman, had suspected. For example, no Rutgers quarterback, save Vaskick, put a play in motion all afternoon, although he was occasionally spelled on defense; the losers went with just three tacklers after big George Elias departed on a stretcher with a sprained knee; and the starting guards and Paulson played twice as long as their immediate replacements.

Rutgers threw a scare into Princeton by going 50 yards in ten plays the second time it came into possession. It was chopping up the Tigers' line fairly effectively, aided by some sloppy early-season tackling.

The home team struck back early in the second quarter, covering 41 yards in half a dozen plays, the TD coming on a magnificent catch of a Greg Riley aerial by Barry Schuman just inside the goal line. After one effort for a two-point conversion failed, but yielded another try because of a call against Rutgers for pass interference, Captain Dan Terpack ran the reverse-pass option beautifully, bulging his 165-pound frame into the end zone when two tacklers hung back to defend against Riley and Schuman as potential receivers.

and Bill Guedel, both of whom were standouts as freshmen but are seeing their first varsity action as juniors.

Both are tackles, and each lived up to the literal name of his position all over the field. A pair of sophomore ends, Bill Robinson and Jim Batcheller, gave sound performances in filling in for Schuman, lending needed depth to a position that had caused the coaching staff concern.

The all-around play of Captain Dan Terpack was cited by Colman in his post-game press conference, as was the ball-carrying of Bill Merlini and the performances of Tim Callard and reserve center Bill Crano in the line. The Tiger coach felt the game had been won by superior line play, and called on the center "our best" for opening day performance in several years.

This is a highly promising Princeton squad, one that will develop quickly as it goes along because of the fine balance between ability and depth. It is at least an even bet to win all of its October games—Columbia, Penn. College and Cornell do not appear to have the personnel to cope with this solid outfit.

Columbia this weekend appears in for real trouble. In years other than last fall, when the Lions rose far above their normal degree of ability, the scores in the series were 43-0, 47-0 and 49-0. Even with the bench-clearing act, Saturday's result should be something similar.

PHS SEEKS FIRST WIN

Against Hackettstown. For the first and only time this season, the Princeton High School football team will journey outside the confines of Mercer County on Saturday, traveling to meet Hackettstown High School. The Little Tigers will be seeking their first victory after losing their second straight contest of the season here on Saturday to Emerson, 20 to 13.

For the third consecutive week, PHS will be meeting a team it has never played before. (Four of its eight opponents are newcomers to its 1962 schedule.) Blue and White coach Dick Wood reported that Hackettstown was good on defense and good on offense. "They're a small team but they are perennially good. They're good," he added, "but I don't think they are any better than we are."

Though Wood and his staff may be unfamiliar with Hackettstown, there is nothing secretive about its past record. It is a solid one. In fact, it is phenomenal. In the past 33 years, Charles "Chot" Morrison's eleven have swept to a remarkable 228-42-12 record. In this span, 12 Orange and Black teams have been undefeated and 15 have been Group I champions.

As usual, Morrison started his 34th season—the longest run of any active high school coach in the state—on the right foot when his team ran up 33 points to defeat Bernards in its season opener. Like the Little Tigers, Hackettstown was the single wing and Saturday's encounter should be a bruising, hard-nosed contest. The game will start at 2.

Mistakes Costly. Sloppy playing by the Little Tigers in the first half cost them the Emerson game. "I've never seen so many mistakes as I saw in the first half," said Wood. Two of the most flagrant ones led directly to Emerson scores.

The first came in the opening minutes of the second quarter, with Emerson leading 7 to 0. On a third and 15 situation, tailback John Kowalski fumbled the snapback and the visitors recovered on the PHS 9. Three plays later, Frank Alvarez crashed over from the three on a crossback to the Bulldog's 13th point.

PHS returned the following kickoff to its own 27. Three running plays netted seven yards. Then, with a fourth and three situation, quarterback and team captain Tom Reynolds lost count of the downs, instead of punting he called for another running play. It

KOWALSKI EN ROUTE FOR SEVEN-YARD ADVANCE. Three determined Emerson tacklers pursue Princeton High's John Kowalski before pushing him out of bounds, but not before the Little Tiger tailback had gained seven yards on an end sweep. The play came with 20 seconds remaining in Saturday's contest. (Staff Photo)

The first two games this year, the opposition has scored 46. Against Emerson, the defensive play of Jim McKeever and Peter Weber excelled but it wasn't enough.
One final indictment of the Little Tigers on Saturday was the impotence of the passing. To date, their passes have been falling short or have been intercepted with embarrassing regularity. They have yet to show even the semblance of a passing game. Rather, it has proven to be a two-edged sword, hurting the Little Tiger more than it has the opposition.

HUN LOSSES OPENER

Faces Perkiomen Saturday. The Hun School, 22-12 victim of Pennington in its opener, will play Perkiomen here on Saturday at 2:30. The game will be Perkiomen's first of the season.

Hun coach Hawley Waterman reacted that he did not know anything about the team from the Pennsburg, Pa. school. "We've beaten them two years in a row so I imagine they'll be out to get us. It should be a close, hard-fought game."

Against Pennington, Waterman said it was a case of "too many passes and too many end runs. They never ran our interior line; they just ran our ends all day. We moved the ball pretty well; we just couldn't stop them when it counted."

Serving the Red Raiders' cause was an injury to Hun's end, Dave Richards, early in the second quarter. Pennington was quick to exploit the weakened position and ran successfully 1 for a yard a game and thereafter. Actually, Hun had the edge in first downs and in both rushing and passing yards but it was Pennington which was able to come up with the big play.

Led by quarterback Steve Fox, Pennington scored first in the opening quarter on a 72-yard march. The louchdown play was a pitchout from Fox to halfback Glenn Pike that covered 53 yards. Fox then passed to Pike for a two-point conversion.

Hun's interior right back with its first TD. A low kick-off was downed on the Hun 46. On third down, "Hap" Young hit fullback Mark Savidge, cutting over the middle, who went all the way for a 41-yard scoring play. The attempted conversion failed and Hun trailed, 8-6, at the half.

Hun Takes Lead. Midway in the third quarter Hun scored again, this time driving 47 yards in 11 plays. Along the way, the visitors were aided by a penalty. Quarterback Young rolled out to his left for the final two yards. Again the conversion try failed and Hun led, 12-8.

Hun couldn't maintain its narrow margin, however. In the final period, the visitors struck twice. Fox passed to a punter for a TD to put the Red Raiders in front again. Shortly after, a pass from center sailed over Young's head and was recovered by Pennington on the Hun 14. Two plays later, Pennington had its third tally and 22nd point.

TENNIS TIMES WON

At the Break. Six of the nice tennis championships contested each fall at the Pretty Back Tennis Club have been decided.

In the men's singles, R. Manning Brown defeated Peter Hildick-Smith in a hard-fought three-set match, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4. The latter was the defending champion.

Brown and his opponent teamed together in the men's doubles, losing to A. Caryl Bigelow and Stanley Smoyer, 6-4, 6-4. Bigelow and Smoyer won this tournament several times but had not played in it together since.

Howard McMorris topped Peter Hildick-Smith, 6-0, 6-0, to win the championship for boys 18 and under, succeeding Bill Smoyer, who had left for his senior year at Andover and could not defend his title. John Claghorn won the tournament for boys and under, defeating Sandy Wandell, 6-4, 6-2.

Lisa Stevenson won a drawn-out three set match from Lisa Patton, 7-5, 3-6, 6-3, to become champion in the girls' 18 and under bracket. Play in women's singles and doubles and mixed doubles is continuing.

MILLER WINS SAILING

Sunday On Canoe. Dexter Miller's 51.5 points, including one first-place finish, won the Canoe Sailing Club racing on the lake Sunday. His son, Tim Miller, and Bob Holt were his closest rivals.

Other firsts were won by Ted Nicoll (2), Phil Holt, John Reeder and Walt Foster. The runner-up point totals: Bob Wilson, 43.9; Nicoll, 40.4; Holt, 40.1; Reeder, 36.8; Tom Huntington, 34.3; Harry Cooke, 25.0; Foster, 19.7; Barry Foster, 15.0; Pat Curtis, 8.0; Art Wittnatch, 6.0; and Jack Delano, 5.0.

HORSE SHOW PLANNED

At Pine Brae Club. The Pine Brae Club will hold its annual fall horse show Saturday, October 13, beginning at 9 a.m. at the club grounds, Route 518, Blawenburg. The rain date is Sunday, October 14.

Entries, which are $3 a class, close Saturday. The show is planned particularly for competition among the junior riders of the area. There will be many events for beginning and intermediate riders.

Other events will include hunter classes, a driving class for both horses and ponies; a family class; a pairs under saddle class; a pleasure driving class; and a combined class that will be judged on originality.

The proceeds will benefit the United States equestrian team. Donations of $1 for adults and 50 cents for children may be made.

BOWLING NOTES

Basile Takes Lead. Winning six games, including a make-up set, Mike Basile moved into first place in the individual Classic League. Undefeated, he now leads his nearest opponent, Guido Zinetti, by 15 games. At Hibbard remained in third place two games behind the leader while bowling a 595 series, highest of the week.

In a tie with Hibbard are Joe Trani, last week's leader, Jack Luecy, Joe Balduino and Fred Procaccini. All have 4-2 records. Grover gained sole possession of the top spot in the "A" League by sweeping its three games from last place Yeoman's. Cooper & Schfer, tied last week with Grover, dropped to second with a 14-point total, two points behind the leader.

In "B" League action, Jung widened its lead to six points by sweeping three games. Sportsman and Kase Kleiman's both won two of three games to remain in a second-place tie. Each team has 16 points.

Dick Fowler recorded the single-game high in the "A" loop by rolling a 211. The only other bowler in the league to get 200 pins or better was Larry Soli, who hit 200 even.

Mike Zeccoli took single-game honors in "B" League.

play with a 221. Six other men cleared the 200 mark while Fred Procaccini hawking a 218 to lead the way. Trailing him were Jack Luecy, 212; Bill Parke, 203; Don Snyder, 204; Frank Deines, 203; and Val Ranallo, 200.

Para Lab and Sals Tied. The Reformers lost two points of their Industrial League lead over Para Lab by dropping two of three games. Taking two of three matches, the Princeton Elks now have 12

Decidedly. Towering oaks and pines, majestic hickories, flowering dogwoods abound at Pine Knoll in Lawrence Township. The reason: this was a famous tree nursery and the trees will remain. The soil is rich, the terrain gently rolling, the elevation one of the highest in the state. Next door to the Green Acres Golf Course. An elementary school right on the grounds. A mile to Lawrenceville Shopping Center. Five minutes from Princeton and Trenton.

3 A.M.

It is 3 A.M. in a community pharmacy. The street is in darkness, yet lights are on in the pharmacy. Why? Because the pharmacist is faced with an emergency.

He received an urgent telephone call at 2:50 A.M. Mrs. Saxon, a sufferer from asthma, was having severe difficulty in breathing. Her husband told the pharmacist that she had run out of the medicine prescribed by her physician.

The pharmacist dressed quickly, rushed to his store, located the original prescription in his files, telephoned to Mrs. Saxon's physician, prepared and delivered the medication. Soon, Mrs. Saxon was breathing normally again, and a possible tragedy had been averted.

Such crises are frequent, yet your pharmacist meets them with speed and confidence as part of his complex professional duties. Today a pharmacist goes to college for five years, spends 2000 hours of apprenticeship, and must pass a rigorous examination before he is licensed. He must stock thousands of dollars worth of health products you need every day—as well as those you may need only once in a lifetime.

It was not by chance that the pharmacist had the proper drug ready for Mrs. Saxon when she needed it. We call the complex process by which a drug moves from manufacturer to patient "the miracle of drug distribution."

The teamwork of manufacturer, drug wholesaler and pharmacist assures that you—as well as Mrs. Saxon—will always receive the medicine you need. This miracle of drug distribution—the fact that the medicine your doctor has prescribed is ready when you need it—is just one reason why prescriptions are today's best bargains.
